HE TALKS FREELY OF HIS HORSES IN ENGLAND.

HOPES TO RETURN TO AMERICA IN THE FALL WITH NEW LAURELS FOR AMERI-

CAN THOROUGHBREDS. Richard Croker intends to sail for England on the American liner St. Louis on Wednesday, unless me unforeseen circumstance prevents him from o. Mr. Croker was in excellent spirits yesterday afternoon and chatted pleasantly about the prospects of his horses. In regard to his political ntentions Mr. Croker preserves a grim silence, and he is perfectly willing that the political wiseacres of the press should continue guessing about his position in Tammany Hall.

In talking about his horses, Mr. Croker said: "I have received a list of the weights assigned for the early spring handicaps, and am well pleased with the allotment of the weights. To be sure, the scale of weights in England is higher than in this ountry. My horses have been treated with the utmost fairness; consequently I shall have no excuse if the American horses in my stable do not win a race. It is a pleasure to own a stable of horses they are in charge of a competent trainer. Mr. Morton, who has charge of my horses at Wantage, has full control, and is considered a thoroughly competent trainer by the leading horsemen in England. Moreover, he is an intelligent, well-educated man, energetic and progressive. I place implicit confidence in his judgment. I have no care or annoyances about forfelts and declarations for stakes, which in themselves are important items in the expenses of a racing stable. "Mr. Morion attends to every detail of that sort, and is capable of placing horses in races judiciously, thereby giving them a chance to win where their chances are nearly even with those of their opponents. If everything goes well with my horses, America will have a representative in the Lincoinshire Handicap and in the principal all-aged races that are to be run in England in the coming racing season. I do not expect to return to this country until late in the fall, and I hope to return with additional laurels for the American thoroughbreds." place implicit confidence in his judgment. I have

CLOSE OF THE TROTTING SALE. KENO F., 2:15%, AND OTHER CAMPAIGNERS PASS UNDER THE AUCTIONEER'S HAMMER.

The once-noted campaigner Keno F., 2:15½, seed under the hammer yesterday at W. B. Fasig Co.'s sale of trotting stock in Madison Square Garden. He is now thirteen years old and is com monly believed to be outclassed as a turf horse, but handsomely did the old fellow show on the minlature track in the Garden that Charles Lutz paid 1.500 for him to drive on the road in Brooklyn Keno F. was one of the star trotters of 1890. In that year the Western reinsman, C. A. Thompson, appeared at the Rochester Grand Circuit meeting th the horse and entered him in the $10,000 Flowe City Stakes. Both horse and driver were unknown to Eastern turfmen, and Keno was ignored in the betting. Thompson and Patterson Stewart, a plunger from Kansas City, made an old-fashioned killing when the chestnut trotter pulled off the race, beating all of the Eastern cracks. After winning the $10,000 stake, Keno could have been sold for $11,000. but his owner. Mayor Olinger, of Dubuque, Iowa, declined the offer, thinking he possessed a world-beater. Six weeks ago he sold the horse to a New-York dealer, H. B. Carroll, for about $500, and the latter turned a good investment when he sold the famous campaigner yesterday for $1,500. Keno reduced his record last season to 2:1516. He will be trained, and perhaps started this year in the stable of J. P. Rogers, of Gravesend.

John H. Shults added the pacing mare Eliza K., 2:11%, to his extensive collection of fast ones, paying $1,100 for the light-waisted daughter of Robert Rysdyk, 2:13%. Eliza K. made her record in a race Portland, Me., in 1895, pacing the second, and fourth heats in 2:11%, 2:11% and 2:11%. She is commonly believed to be a good one in her class, but Mr. Shults will use her as a brood-mare at his breeding farm, near Port Chester. Mr. Shults but Mr. Shults will use her as a brood-mare at his breeding farm, near Port Chester. Mr. Shults bought a couple of other good ones in Gorston, 2:234, by Nueget, and Petrolea, by Patron, 2:134, paying 525 for the pair.

Another of the choice offerings yesterday went to Brooklyn when Suzel was struck off to Thomas Howard's bid of 11,000. She is a six-year-old mare by Nugget, and is credited with ability to trot fast, although she has no public record. Her full sister, Saboya, has a record of 2:1335. W. French, a well-known Brooklyn road-rider, bought the trotting geiding Torpedo, 2:234, for 3400, but somebody told him the horse was a hard one to handle, and at his request Mr. Carroll, the consignor, took the animal back, reselling him for 339 to J. C. Johnson, At the evening sale Mr. French bought the trotter Joe R. 2:174, by Kirk for 15,000. The pacer Valleau, 2:12, by Sentinel Wilkes, went to James Galvin, of Boston, for $1,500. Hubinger Bros. the owners of Frank Agan, 2:055, purchased the fast young pacing mare Mary Wells, 2:204, in the consignment of E. S. Wells, Glemmore, N. J., for $1,196. Charles Fleischmann, of Berlin, was one of the heaviest buyers vesterday. He secured a number of well-bred youngsters, and bought from A. J. Welch at private sale the fast mare Miss Bowerman, 2:215, by Wilton, all for export to Germany.

FOSTER BROTHERS' HORSES MAY RUN. The stewards of the Jockey Club held a meeting yesterday at 12 o'clock. There were present August Belmont, James R. Keene, Andrew Miller and F. K.

The following decision was rendered: "In the the horses Dr. Rice, Eloroy and Sullross, the stew-ards, upon investigation, find that there is no dis-ability attaching to these horses, and that they are qualified to be entered and run on courses under the jurisdiction of the Jockey Club."

THE KELLOGG SALE OF HORSES

Peter C. Kellogg & Co.'s great sale of horses at Madison Square Garden, February 25-28, will contain California consignments from William Cor-bitt and Monroe Salisbury. Both of these promment trotting turfmen will sell some of their fastest horses, such as Lesa Wilkes, 2:09; Muta Wilkes, 2:11; Direct, 2:05½, pacing, and Burlingame, 2:18½ The capital race gelding David B., 2:09¼, is comsigned from Kentucky, and some fifty other no. of fast record are catalogued, while among the 350 head to be sold are scores of others of speed and excellent breeding, from such well-known breeders as C. H. Kerner, William F. Redmond, W. M. Halsted, W. H. H. Moody, C. W. Baker, etc.

BRIGHTER DAYS AHEAD, SAYS MR. KEENE. James R. Keene left this city for New-Orleans yesterday afternoon. Mr. Keene intends to journey from place to place in the South for two or three weeks. In regard to the turf outlook, Mr. Keene the future of racing. There are so many horses in training that there should be large fields in almost every race. Even if the number of racing days has been greatly curtailed by the suppression of some of the minor tracks, the public are likely to have superior horses engaged in the contests, and, consequently, an improved class of racing.

"There is plenty of room on the turf for all honest horse-owners. The owner of moderate means will have justice as well as the wealthy owners. I believe that the turf is on the high road to prosperity, and that its future will grow brighter every day."

Killacky was awarded to Paterson and Boyle goes to New-Haven. Both players, however, were fined $50 for their queer dealings.

MURPHY EXPECTS TO STAY AT YALE.

New-Haven, Conn., Feb. 15.-Michael Murphy said o-day that he would probably decline the offer of the University of Pennsylvania, and remain at Yale as track trainer. He has had several interviews with the Yale track managers, and they will probably grant him the desired advance in salary.

It shows that the expenses of the team during the season were $19,785 64, while the receipts were $26,579 81. The Frince will make a long cruise, calling at Naples and the Piraeus, the port of Athens.

HUGUENOT YACHT CLUB MEETING.

The Huguenot Yacht Club, one of the youngest but one of the most enterprising yacht organizations in this vicinity, held its second annual meeting at the Hotel de Logerot last night. The club was founded by C. M. Connolly, A. F. Townsend, R. T. Badgley, L. C. Ketchum and Charles Whann in October, 1894. Since then it has grown steadily in October, 1834. Since then it has grown steadily until now the club has about one hundred active members, a fleet of thirty-three sailing vessels, two steam yachts and nine launches. It has a well appointed clubhouse. The Defender now lies anchored at the club float. The date of the club's opening regatta has not been determined, but the Regatta Committee will see that it is a little ahead of all others.

At the meeting last night the following officers were elected by unanimous vote: Commodore, Charles Whann; vice-commodore, C. M. Connolly; rear-commodore, S. K. Gorham; secretary, R. T. Hadgiey; treasurer, A. L. Laukota; trustees (for three years), M. H. Jacob and H. Pike, fr.; (for three years), A. F. Townsend and L. C. Ketchum. After the reports of the secretary and the treasurer were read the New-Rochelle tars sat down to an elaborate supper and had a jolly good time.

ARTILLERYMEN AT DINNER.

GENERAL HOWARD CARROLL ENTERTAINS OFFICERS OF THE STATE AND DIS-CUSSES HIS PLAN OF MOBILIZATION.

By invitation of Brigadier-General Howard Carroll, Chief of Artillery on the staff of Governor Morton, all the artillery officers of the State assembled at Deimonico's yesterday to discuss matters pertaining to that arm of the service. The chief topic was the plan suggested by General Carroll some time ago to mobilize all the artillery here some time next summer and have the whole body march to the camp of instruction at Peckskill and there go into camp. The Plan as outlined by General Carroll was heartly indorsed by all those who discussed the matter, and many officers expressed the hope that the Adjutant-General will recommend the practice march as proposed by General Carroll. It will involve an expense of upward of $20.00, and, as this is the age of economy, there are graved doubts as to the scheme receiving the sanction of the Commander-in-Chief.

General Carroll entertained the officers and other guests at dinner in the evening. The red room was beautifully and appropriately decorated with flags and weapons of war, and the guests sat at an oval table, the centre piece of which was an elaborate artillery design, with murderous cannon of all kinds pointing in every direction. Encircling this was a CUSSES HIS PLAN OF MOBILIZATION.

artillery design, with murderous cannon of all kinds pointing in every direction. Encircling this was a great bank of roses, and the whole was lighted by hundreds of tiny red-shaded lamps. The decorations were all in red, the artillery color, and were strikingly beautiful.

Around the board sat the following artillery offiers: Captain L. L. Olmsted, 6th Battery, Binghamcers: Captain L. L. Olmsted, 6th Battery, Binghamton; Captain Henry S. Rasquin, 3d Battery, Brooklyn; Captain Louis Wendel, 1st Battery, New-York City; Captain David Wilson, 2d Battery, New-York City; Captain Aimeron D. A CLUB WITH PUSH AND ENERGY.

HOW THE LOYAL REPUBLICAN ORGANIZATION OF THE XXVIIITH ASSEMBLY DISTRICT OVER-

CAME THE DIFFICULTIES PUT IN ITS WAY BY A MACHINE MAN.

The Executive Committee of the Loyal Republican Club of the XXVIIIth Assembly District is nothing if not energetic. Less than two weeks ago the club, owing to the defection of a member whose sympathies lie with the Machine element of the Republican party, was stripped of its furniture, fittings and decorations. In an emphatically worded circular which the committee has issued it is explained that the old furniture in the clubrooms was claimed by an expelled member "who, in a moment of unguarded generosity, had donated it to the club."

Although there seemed no doubt that the club by legal and prescriptive right, could claim the furniture as the property of the members, the commit-tee without hesitation decided to hand over to the member in question the whole of the articles which he persisted belonged to him, and added on their statement of their decision in this respect the pungent sarcasm that they desired "to obliterate man who had proved false to his best friends, and thus allowed him to remove anything he wished to. It appears that he wished everything, as he left only the four walls, and those probably because he could not carry them with him." But with the departure of the old furnishings of the club, the members of the committee immediately set themselves to the task of refitting the premises, and it redounds to their energy and premises, and it redounds to their energy and patriotism that in the short intervening space of two weeks, they have succeeded in not only refurnishing their club, but in adding to it decorations and ornamentations which make it one of the most attractive and comfortable district Republican clubs in the city.

Last night a large gathering of the members assembled at what was appropriately called a house-warming, and the evening was given over entirely to jolification and amusement. There were vocal selections by J. McCullough, Duffy and Sling, the Loyal Musical Sextet, Charles H. Gordon, Michael J. Sherry and W. J. McLaughdin. Speeches of a congratulatory nature upon the successful surmounting by the committee of the difficulties to which the club had been subjected, were given by General C. H. T. Collis, John C. Granam, Bendamin Oppenheimer, Thomas Callahan, John O'Conneli, John McNally, Jacob Nedell and Timethy O'Toole, the president of the club.

AN AUTOGRAPH COLLECTION THAT CON-GRESS DID NOT WANT.

Washington, Feb. 15 (Special).-Packed away in one corner of the east portico of the Capitol, out of the current of travel, is what appears to be a hig box, about six feet high and four feet wide. There is nothing to indicate what it contains, or that it contains anything. So that it shall be noticed as little as possible, it has been painted a grayish white, like the walls of the building behind it. Most persons regard it as a rubbish-box, though the greater number never seem to notice it at all. The guides at the Capitol consider it of such little importance or interest that they never mention it in describing the sights and explaining the surroundings of the building and its grand porticos. Yet there is an interesting story connected with the box, which illustrates that, as has often been charged, republics are ungrateful. In the Centennial year it was discovered that, though this was a grand and glorious country, outside of the country itself there was not much to show for it. Of course there was the original copy of the Declaration of Independence in the State Department, though that preclous document had so aded that it could not be exposed to daylight any longer for fear of its being obliterated, and there was some furniture in Independence Hall, in Philadelphia. But there was not by any means enough to satisfy some. Mrs. Deems, of New-York, was one of those who thought there should be a better showing at the end of the second centennial, and she immediately began to put her ideas into operation. She conceived a plan of preserving not only the autograph, but also the photograph, of every public man then alive, as well as of every woman of prominence, and of presenting the collection to the country. It took her many months to get the collection together in a parchment album made for the purpose, but she finally did so, and on the Fourth of July, 1876, she locked them up in an iron safe, which she also had constructed for the purnose. General Grant encouraged her, and he promautograph and photograph in the album, but he would secure for her those of his Cabinet and their photographs, which he did. Hundreds of officials also entered their names and photographs, as did many others prominent in other walks of life, including a number of the Diplomatic Corps. For weeks Mrs. Deems sat in the old hall of the of Representatives and invited Senators and Representatives to sign the album. She took the album to the sick-bed of some for their signatures, and to the sick-bed of some for their signatures, and even to the insane asylum for signatures; for it happened that two men who had been prominent in the councils of the Nation were inmates of the same, suffering from dipaomania. She allowed others to write nice little notes to posterity and pack them saugly away in the air-tight compartments of the fron safe with their own hands. The album she had placed in an air-tight copper case before she locked the safe. At an appointed time she closed up everything and locked the safe in the presence of a few persons, among whom was the writer.
